Improvements and extension works to Morley Memorial Primary School

Introduction

Cambridgeshire County Council and Morley Memorial Primary School have continued to work together to develop proposals for enhancing the school's accommodation to support its academic vision.

A public consultation was held on Monday the 29th of June 2015 and it was encouraging to see so many people attending. Feedback from this consultation covered a range of topics; overall the majority of responses received so far have been positive about the proposed changes.

In response to concerns about delays in the material being available online, the Council and school have decided to extend the consultation until July 31st 2015.

The proposals that were presented at the public consultation are available online on the school website via the link below:

<http://www.morley.cambs.sch.uk/our-school/building-redevelopment/>.

They will also remain on display at the school until the end of term, 22nd July, during normal school opening hours.

You can send any comments you may wish to voice on these proposals up until the 31st of July via email to:

liam.roberts@morgansindall.com

All feedback received will be considered by the School and Design Team prior to finalising the design approach ahead of a planning application submission.

We look forward to receiving any views you may wish to express.
